

INSPIRE ACTION FOR SOCIAL CHANGE

A nonprofit organization dedicated to building systems within organizations that are grounded in love, care, and deep compassion

WHAT WE DO AND WHY

Supervised visitation and safe exchange services are highly specialized services designed to interrupt ongoing violence in families post-separation.

Unfortunately, these programs face limited support, little staff training or professional consultation, and little access to high-quality resources or experts in the field to help sustain the delicate and serious nature of their work.

Since 2008, Inspire Action has provided a dynamic and robust array of learning and growth opportunities for supervised visitation and safe exchange programs across the country.

Through our relational and responsive assistance and training, these programs are able to enhance safety and support healing for survivors of intimate partner violence, creating a strong community response to reducing violence.

Inspire brings unconditional love and kindness, shared values, and the importance of ongoing learning into all that we do. We value our work deeply, striving to show up as our best selves every day as we engage in deep thinking, risk-taking, and leaning into hard questions.

INSPIRE ACTION FOR SOCIAL CHANGE

OUR WORK

We know that serving survivors of intimate partner violence in a manner that centralizes safety, humanity, and each individual's unique circumstances requires both skill and support.

Inspire is here to provide that support.

Inspire seeks to facilitate healing and change for adult and child survivors and those who have caused harm by supporting, challenging, and introducing new possibilities to those who work in partnership with these families in a supervised visitation setting.

Inspire approaches its work from a strengths-based, optimistic approach centered on the belief that change is possible and people can bring about the change they wish to see.

THE IMPACT YOU CAN MAKE

In order to continue lowering barriers for survivors and the programs that support them, it is deeply important for us to keep all of Inspire's services accessible, readily-available, and free. We deeply value our own community of supporters, without whom this work would not be possible.

To support Inspire's work, please reach out to our co-executive directors:

Beth McNamara

beth@inspireactionforsocialchange.org

406-558-9334

Jennifer Rose

jennifer@inspireactionforsocialchange.org

505-490-9058

Lifting up our efforts will continue to improve safety for all survivors, fundamentally creating a strong community response that cultivates healing, reduces violence, and promotes long-term recovery and change for families.